

How to SHOP for CBD

There are thousands of products made with hemp. Here's what you need to know.

Products with CBD can be:

- Full Spectrum

All of the cannabinoids found in the flower are processed into an oil. We believe this aids in the uptake of CBD due to an Entourage Effect.

- Broad Spectrum

All of the cannabinoids are processed from the flower. The THC (or another cannabinoid) is chemically removed. Usually used for those who do NOT want any THC in their products.

- Isolate

An isolate is processed so that 1 particular cannabinoid (usually CBD or THC) is removed from the oil and this is used in products.

CBD For The People

Always look for:

- The amount of CBD and/or THC (listed as mg of each)
- Check the product's COA (certificate of analysis). Registered products must include a link to the COA on the label
- Research the company. Where is the hemp grown? How is the oil processed? How are the products made?

Why should you trust products from

The Hemp Folk?

Here are some of the reasons:

- We grow our hemp organically
- Our commercial kitchen is a UDAF licensed processing facility
- We process our flower using a traditional infusion method, not a harsh chemical process
- All of our products are Full Spectrum using only the most natural and simple ingredients as possible.
